

Experimental Status of V_{ub}/V_{cb} and the CKM Angle γ

Wednesday, 30 May 2018 08:35 (35 minutes)

Precision measurements of CKM parameters are important for defining the Standard Model and for searching for inconsistencies from new-physics contributions. I will review the status of current measurements and discuss the precision expected in future runs of LHCb and Belle II.

E-mail

asoffer@tauex.tau.ac.il

Collaboration name

Belle II

Primary author: Prof. SOFFER, Abner (Tel Aviv University)

Presenter: Prof. SOFFER, Abner (Tel Aviv University)

Session Classification: Plenary 3

Track Classification: HFCKM